The City of Baldwin Park Urges the Public to Confirm their Sources of City-related Information

Baldwin Park, Calif. (Saturday, December 5, 2020) The City of Baldwin Park alerts the public that the spreading of unverifiable messages on the internet puts our community at risk from misinformation. Unverified information creates a lack of trust in our institutions.

A recent message involving former Chief of Police McLean going around on the internet and via text messages is not an official statement released by the City of Baldwin Park. The City will never share information from personal social media accounts or text messages.

City officials urge the community to look for reliable information regarding the City through verifiable sources such as the City's website (www.baldwinpark.com) and the City's social media channels (Facebook - @BaldwinParkCAGov and Instagram: @BaldwinPark_CAGov) to avoid sharing information from non-reliable or questionable sources.

Baldwin Park is taking measures to ensure that the information displayed is trustworthy. Our team also monitors and alerts the public for possible situations where unofficial City news spreads online.
